

News Release

This inaugural competition featured reasoned debate during an era when free speech issues on college campuses are part of the national conversation. Arizona public universities are recognized as exemplars in free speech. Arizona State University, Northern Arizona University and University of Arizona are all recognized with a greenlight rating, the highest rating by the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education.

During the all-day competition, student teams participated-

1803,julie.newberg@azregents.edu